Welcome to the Re-opening of Idyllwild!

Although never “closed,” the communities of Idyllwild and Pine Cove have missed the many events that are held for both our residents and visitors.

The first major event of the re-opening was the re-dedication of the Town Hall located on Cedar Street. This iconic landmark has been the venue for activities dating back in 1950s. Thanks to a group of local citizens, the Town Hall has been renovated and is now ready to continue the great traditions providing a location for festivals, community fund-raisers, child care, recreation, farmer’s markets and community meetings.

A second great event to finally return is the July 4th parade. The true culture of Idyllwild is evident as, led by the Color Guard of the American Legion, the Grand Marshal, a stream of fire trucks, emergency vehicles, non-profit organizations, church and children’s groups and playful individuals march down North Circle Drive. A true American event!!

Real Estate sales in Idyllwild have been a record high during the Pandemic. In the year since the lock-down began, over 450 homes were sold. The inventory of active listings dropped to another all-time low and home values increased. Our inventory is growing, our ability to show homes with fewer restrictions is increasing, Open Houses are allowed once again.

The Idyllwild Association of Realtors are local residents with knowledge and expertise of “Hill Living.” We are part of the community and belong to many organizations, volunteer for local events, and serve on boards of local utilities or non-profits. We know Idyllwild and Idyllwild knows us. We are your best source for buying or selling your home in Idyllwild.

Reminders for Visitors:

1. An emergency siren will blow at 1 p.m. every third Saturday of the month as a drill. In an actual emergency, the siren is intended to alert visitors and residents to check local emergency information sources such as the Mountain Disaster Preparedness website at: <http://mdpidyllwild.org> or tune into WNKI (1610 AM)
2. Highway 243 is well traveled and guests are to use caution when walking either up or across the highway. This is not a quaint mountain road—it’s a HIGHWAY!
3. Guests in vacation rentals are asked to please follow rules of good behavior so as to not disturb the many full time residents who consider Idyllwild home. We understand that a weekend getaway is a time for fun but please do it in a manner that respects the neighbors.
